BULL MOOSE IS ON THE RAMPAGE

Prevented With Difficulty From Nominating Col. Roosevelt

ELEMENT IS ALLAYED

Agree to Conference in the Nick of Time to Prevent Collapse of Harmony Plans

Oyster Bay, June 9. — Colonel Roosevelt today told the newspaper correspondents:

"I can see no change in the situation which will call me to Chicago."

He is still keeping in closest touch with the situation.

Chicago, June 9—The Progressive Naional Convention, apparently bent upon nominating Col. Theodore Roosevelt for President without waiting to see what the Republican convention would do, was checked in its course late yesterday afternoon by George W. Perkins' suggestion that a message be sent to the Republican gathering at the Coliseum proposing the appointment of committees by the two conventions to confer with a view to bringing about harmonious action.

Earlier in the course of the convention's session Victor Murdock, chairman of the Progressive National Committee, had interrupted a proposal for a conference with the Republicans by yelling:

"The one thing you ought to send to the Republican Convention is the nomination of Roosevelt!" The delegates went wild.

Murdock got the crowd again when he said if the Progressives want "Teddy" they "must nominate him" before the days is through.

Former Congressman MacDonald, of Michigan, also opposed waiting on the Republicans and closed his speech by saying the only message to send to the Republicans was "to tell them to go to hell and tell them to do as they d—— pleased."

The delegates plainly disapproved this language by hissing.

After the convention had finally been won over to Mr. Perkins' plan of sending to the Republican Convention a proposal for a conference, a motion to adjourn until 8 o'clock last night was carried. Before many of the delegates had left the hall word was received that the Republican Convention had agreed to the conference plan.

The delegates moving toward the doors were hurriedly waved back to their seats, the convention formally reconvened, and after announcing the action of the Republican Convention Chairman Robins appointed as members of the Progressive conference committee George W. Perkins, Gov. Hiram Johnson, Horace Wilkinson, Charles J. Bonaparte and John M. Parker.

After the committee had been named the convention took recess. It reconvened at 8:21 o'clock last night but held only a brief session and adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

London, June 9. —Rescue of 12 men who were on the Hampshire, Lord Kitchener's death ship, when the raft they clung to was washed ashore today spurred survivors.

The announcement that 12 men had been rescued was made by the admiralty.

The Hampshire, according to a dispatch from Aberdeen, Scotland, sank in deep water, two miles from the cost west of the Orkney isles.

DEVILED & HARD SHELL CRABS AT JACOB BRILL'S FOOT KING ST.

JOFFRE'S COMPARISON.

French Position Like That of U. S, After Battle of Gettysburg.

Paris, June 9.—Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief has received at army headquarters Frederick Allen, of New York, who has been identified with relief work, and after expressing his high appreciation of American sympathy and the aid extended to the French wounded talked in an interesting manner on the general phases of the war.

He compared the present French position to that in the United States after the battle of Gettysburg.

Turning to general subjects the French commander continued: Democracies do not want war. France sought no war. Our army knew the danger, but our people could not think that much a dreadful war could actully come. It has taken us time to prepare. It took the American people in your war of secession two years to train, fully equip and prepare your armies for the field. It was not until Gettysburg was fought and won that your armies were fully organized and ready.

"Even after the battle of Gettysburg your doubters and slackers—copperheads, you called them — sought an inconclusive peace and tried to beat President Lincoln. But Lincoln's motto was the same then as ours is today—to the end.

"We are fighting the fight of liberty. The United States fought to save the American nation, just as we are fighting to save ours, and until the task was accomplished America would not take her hand from the plow. Nor can we."

Mr. Allen describes Gen. Joffre as a man whose strength and kindliness stand out in every feature, giving him a commanding and benignant presence, which has led the soldiers to call him "Papa Joffre," a Gen. Grant in bulldog tenancity—Verdun shows it; a Lee in strategy — the Marne shows it."

WHEAT CROP OF 1916

Fruits As a Whole Promising, But Peach Outlook Poor

Washington, June 9—Present indications point to a wheat crop 300,000,000 bushels smaller this year than that of last year. Department of Agriculture forecasts indicate a winter wheat crop of 469,000,000 bushels, 30,000,000 bushels less than forecast from May 1 conditions, due largely to insects in Kansas and Oklahoma, and a spring wheat crop of 246,000,000 bushels, due to decrease of 8 per cent in the acreage from last year and to the late wet spring.

Crop conditions on June 1 indicated less production than last year of small grain crops, but they promise to be about the same as the average production for the last five years.

Fruit crops as a whole are good. The apple-crop prospect is promising especially in Eastern States, but the peach crop outlook is rather poor.

Indications are that the oats crop will be about 300,000,000 bushels smaller than last year, being particularly poor in most Southern States and in Oklahoma and Central Kansas where the green bug has injured it.

WILL BALLOT TODAY

Old Guard Doing Everything Possible to Keep Progressives Element Under Check

Chicago, June 9. — Unless the "pussy-footers" among the Progressives can do the superhuman and hold their "direct action" advocates in line, Theodore Roosevelt will today be nominated for the Presidency by the Bull Moose and the Republican national convention will take its pick of Burton, Hughes, Fairbanks, Root and a dozen others.

An indication that prospects of an agreement were not completely shattered by the deadlock between the Progressive and Rpublican "peace committees" last night was seen today when it was learned that the conferees agreed upon practically identical reports to be submitted to their respective conventions.

Although the Progressives submitted but one name— Roosevelt — as their candidate for the Presidency, the meeting did not break up until a definite understanding was reached as to the report to be made by the conferees.

No meeting of the Republican conference committee was planned for today before the convention assembled. They are content to submit their report approved by the Progressives to the convention and await further instructions.

Committees from both parties agreed on the necessity of putting forth a strong candidate. Both agreed in essentials there was no difference between the two parties.

But insistence of the Progressives that Roosevelt be named brought no responsive echo from the other side.

Only superhuman effort by the harmonyites has so far prevented the Bull Moose delegates from naming Roosevelt.

Chicago, June 9—The party platform of 1916 as adopted by the Republican National Convention carries two chapters on "Americanism," a subject that has been given prominence in recent addresses by Theodore Roosevelt.

President Wilson's foreign policy is bitterly arraigned, and the charge made by inference that the administration has not been as "straight" in its protestations of neutrality as regards Europe as has been represented.

President Wilson's Mexican policy is severely condemned and an intimation is conveyed that the trouble south of the border can be remedied only by intervention.

The platform is emphatic in demanding a big army and a big navy together with ample reserves for use in case of trouble. An equal suffrage plank appear in the platform It favors the extension of the suffrage to women but recognizes "the right of each State to settle this question for itself."

The tariff plank is drawn along conventional lines.

Senator Lodge, the chief platform maker, is satisfied that the Republican declaration of principles will be entirely satisfactory to Mr. Roosevelt. Before coming to Chicago Mr. Lodge conferred with the former President and in drafting the platform Mr. Lodge had the assistance of Senator Borah, who speaks the language of the Progressives.

The platform is approved in the main by Progressive leaders. They are a little disappointed that a plank for enforced military service was not adopted, but agree with the regulars that the country is not ready for the conscription system.

LLOYD-GEORGE OPTIMISTIC

Says From Now On German Offensive Power Will Decline.

Paris, June 9. — David Lloyd-George, British minister of munitions in a statement printed in yesterday morning's Journal, says:

"From now on Germany's offensive power will decline; they cannot indefinitely renew their efforts on such a scale.

"The Allies must learn this lesson from Verdun: That heavy guns with the most violent explosives will play the preponderant role in coming battles. We shall profit by it because it comes at the very moment that the manufacture of munitions is increasing in prodigous manner and each day the strength of the allies is increasing.

"I have never thought the defeat of Germany would be easy, but I have never despaired.

"Who would lose courage while France remains standing and stimulates the allies with her noble example?

"Victory is ours, it is sure, but it is slow—we shall gain it by fighting implacably against our common enemy."

RUSSIANS PUSH TOWARD LEMBERG

Determined to Recapture City Wrested From Them A Year Ago

AUSTRIANS RETREAT

Muscovites Claim to Have Taken 50,000 Prisoners and Fix Enemy's Loss at 200,000 Men

London, June 9. — Lemberg, the great fortress and city of northeast Austria, about 150 miles from the battle front east of Brody, is the immediate goal of the onrushing Russian bear, in the belief of the London correspondents at the front.

Lemberg is about 100 miles from and almost directly east of the Przemysl, the scene of some of the fiercest of the eastern front fighting early in the war.

According to Petrograd dispatch the five Austrian armies along the front are in full retreat, in the realization that they could not hold their positions against the artillery attacks of the Russians—the greatest of the war on the eastern front.

Petrograd now claims, 50,000 Austrain prisoners, and sets the Austrain sasualities of the present offensive, five days old, at nearly 200,000.

The greatest gain for the Russians is Lutsk, the third corner of the Volhynian triangle of fortresses. At this point the Russians drove the Austrians back twenty-five miles practically without halt.

Petrograd, June 8—The capture of Lutsk, in Volhynia, and also of a series of powerful organized Austrian positions is announced in an official communication given out here.

In addition to the Austrians previously captured in the offensive movement recently inaugurated, the statement says there were captured in Wednesday's fighting 58 officers and 11,000 men. A large amount of war material was taken.

According to details supplementing the official reports of the Russian success, the artillery preparation by which the Russians cleared the path for the infantry surpassed in intensity all previous efforts of their gunners.

Guns of all sizes contributed to the rain of shellfire. Some of the batteries emitted a continual roar. Whole fields of wire were swept away with astonishing rapidity.

The retreat of certain Austrian detachments was completely cut off by a curtain of shrapnel, through which it was impossible for any living thing to pass. They surrendered by the wholesale.

A well-informed military critic says:

'All five of the Austrian armies are on the eve of retreat and Lemberg is in great strategic danger. A breach 100 miles wide has been blown in the Austrian front, involving the left wing of General Linzingers army group, which consisted of from 18 to 20 divisions.

The communication says:

"On Tuesday we developed our offensive in the direction of Rovno and Kovel, and keeping on the heels of the overthrown enemy and following a battle in the region of Lutsk, we occupied that town. In many places we have seized not only the lines of the Rivers Ikwa and Styr, but have crossed them and continued our offensive.

"In Galicia, on the Lower Stripa, our infantry, supported by artillery fire, captured by an energetic advance a number of powerful enemy organized positions on the front of Trziboukhovtsky-Jazloxetz and have arrived quite near the line of the Stripa River.

"In addition to the 40,000 prisoners previously taken, we took in the course of Wednesday's fighting 58 officers and about 11,000 men and captured a number of guns and machine guns, a quantity of other weapons, field kitchens and telephone material.

"The results of the engagements from the 4th to the 7th in Volhynia and Galicia permit us to consider that we have already gained an important victory, which is crowned by a great breach in the enemy's fortified front."

Lutsk is the apex of a triangle of fortresses, whose base line, extending from Dubno to Rovno, lies to the southeast. These fortresses were captured by the Austrians last fall after long and severe fighting, during which Lutsk changed hands several times.

PEKING FEARS TROUBLE.

United States Troops Ordered To Be in Readiness for Transfer To Chinese Capital.

London, June 9.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tientsin, China, says that the United States troops at that place have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to Peking.

The dispatch also says the French authorities already have dispatched a strong force of native troops from the French protectorate at Annam to Peking. A delegation of officers of the body-guard of the new President, Li Yuan Hung, has assured him of the fealty of the guard.

Washington, June 9.—Twelve hundred men of the Fifteenth Infantry under Col. Harry C. Hale, stationed in Tientsin and along the railroad between there and Peking, and a legation guard of 330 marines, constitute the American military force in China, It was said at the War Department that Colonel Hale might take any part of this force to Peking in an emergency without instruction. He probably prepared to act as soon as he heard of President Yuan Shi Kai's death.

State Department advices from Peking have indicated a remarkably quiescent state of the Chinese public. The foreign military commanders of the international guards in Peking have been in conference, however, regarding necessary military measures to deal with possible disorder in connection with the influx into the legation quarter of large numbers of Chinese seeking refuge.

The reports of movements of foreign troops in China indicate apprehension of disturbances following the death of Yuan Shi Kai. Direct dispatches from China and Japan, however, have given the impression that notwithstanding the unsettled conditions of the last few months no serious disorders were expected In fact, it was felt that the death of the President would have the result of ending the revolution.

Tientsin is a treaty port about 70 miles southeast of Peking. There is a small American force in Tientsin to guard the legation.

A dispatch from Peking to the Chinese Legation, giving formal notification of the inauguration yesterday of Li Yuan Hung as President, said the whole country was quiet. The message also announced a 27-day period of mourning for the late Yuan Shi Kai.

HUGHES STICKS TO WORK.

George W Wickersham, Received as Caller, "Carefully Avoids Mentioning Politics."

Washington, June 9. — Justice Hughes remained in his study nearly all of yesterday continuing work on court opinions to be handed down Monday, but talked for a half hour late in the afternoon with George W. Wickersham, of New York, former Attorney-General, who said he went to the Hughes home merely for a social call and "carefully avoided mentioning politics."

Mr. Wickersham came to Washington, he explained, to see his dentist. He had luncheon with the French Ambassador, who insisted that he take the embassy carriage to make some calls. In it he rode to the Hughes home, where he talked first with Mrs. Hughes and then with the Justice, who was consulting down town with his associates on the bench when Mr. Wickersham arrived.

"I was just paying my respects to my old friends," said Mr. Wickersham last night before returning to New York, "and I carefully avoided in any way mentioning politics."

At the Hughes home the same explanation was given.

John F. Costello, democratic national committeeman from the District of Columbia, has been nominated by President Wilson to be recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia.

FRENCH HOLD ON BEHIND FORT VAUX

Stick to Their Trenches on Western and Southern Slopes

STRONGHOLD A SHELL

Heroic Troops Cut Off From Food Supplies For Five Days and From All Communication

Paris, June 9—The bombarded shell of old Fort Vaux has finally passed into possession of the Germans after a heroic resistance, in which the troops were cut off from food supplies for five days and from all communication for 24 hours. The French on withdrawing, however, still held the trenches, sweeping around the western and southern slopes of the fortress.

The desperate defense made by Commander Raynal and the small contingent left in the fort constitutes one of the most notable incident of the Verdun campaign. The fort had been gradually pounded to pieces in a terrific seven-day bombardment while infantry rushes were repeatedly launched against the slopes of the fort, its ditches and outworks. Early Wednesday morning General Raynal's force was cut off for the first time from communicating with the French trenches 300 yards to the south. The means of transporting provisions and shells had previously been destroyed, and the stock of food in the garrison was exhausted.

In the meantime the Germans brought up two fresh divisions and hurled them forward in five successive massed attacks, which, in spite of the fearful losses caused by the French artillery, finally resulted in the Germans gaining the inner defenses of the fort and sweeping over its exhausted defenders. No word has been received from General Raynal since communication was first cut, and nothing is known of his fate or that of his men.

The French lines now embrace the circle of inner forts and trenches lying south of Fort Vaux, the lines contsituting a semicircle of defense from five to six miles outside of Verdun.

ON LEAVE FROM HELL.

Man Home From Verdun Describes Horrors of Great Battle.

"I have just left Verdun, but I feel as if I had obtained a leave of absence from hell," was the statement made by William H. C. Walker, of Bingham, Mass., says the New York World. Walker has been in France for a year, serving on an ambulance hospital.

"What I saw is almost indescribable," he said. "The nearest hospital was fifty miles from the front. We would approach the firing line in our ambulances and wait there during artillery bombardments, which lasted for days. You can imagine what that meant—one continuous roar of shells.

"Then the bombardments would suddenly stop and there would be periods of awful silence. We of the ambulance corps would say to one another, 'Is this war, or what is it?' During the periods of terrible silence we would be sent out to gather up the wounded, of whom there were hundreds.

"Losses at Verdun are almost inconceivable. Of regiments sent to the front there would be only handfuls of survivors. I expect to go back but when my leave of absence has expired I will feel as if I were returning to the infernal regions."

The Greek ports of Saloniki and Milos, as well as the remainder of the Greek line, is blockaded by warships of the allies. It was announced that the blockade will be maintained until the demands of the allies upon King Constantine are met and complied with. The demands include instant demobilization of the Greek army and the holding of a general election.

TO REOPEN THE SCHOOLS

No Farther Action Will Be Taken By Health Committee Against Moving Picture Houses

Sunday schools will be permitted to hold services on Sunday, the public schools will be reopened on next Monday and no further action will be taken against the moving picture theatre operators who defied the orders of the health committee. This was decided at a meeting of the committee held last night to further consider the alleged epidemic of scarlet fever.

The full committee, consisting of Councilmen A. D. Brockett, Taylor Burke, Clinton S. Ballenger and Aldermen Maurice Wilkins and George H. Robinson, were present and an exhaustive ireview of the situation was gone over. A number of physicians appeared before the board and testified that there had been no new cases of scarlet fever reported since last Saturday.

The health committee had requested the school board to hold a meeting tonight at which time members of the health committee will appear before the board.

PASSING OF THE CLOUD.

The Health Committee of the City Council at a meeting last night formally lifted the ban which was put upon Sunday schools, public schools and amusement halls last week, it being shown that no new cases of scarlet fever had been reported since the day the order of the committee was issued. This action will afford great relief to the many who were inconvenienced directly or indirectly by the prevailing conditions, as well as to others who suffered pecuniarily from the interdiction.

Many citizens from the first were convinced conditions in Alexandria were not of a nature to render the course the committee adopted necessary, but still these gentlemen, placed in the responsible positions they hold, thought differently and acted accordingly. They evidently were inspired by the common-sense principle that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

All will rejoice, however, over the fact that normal conditions are again prevailing in our old city. Those suffering from the maladies which have appeared recently in our community are convalescing, some at leaps and bounds, and realizing that no deaths have occurred among us from these diseases, all realize, that we have much for which to be thankful.

Declaring an epidemic and closing places where public gatherings take place should only be resorted to in grave crises, as such procedures give a city a black eye from which it suffers for some time. It will be remembered that a few years ago, when a few cases of smallpox existed in Alexandria, a church conference which had been scheduled to meet in this city, refused to come into our midst, to the great regret of the many interested.

Like the seventeen-year locusts, these panics will occur ever and anon, and so long as nervous and anxious people continue to be propagated we may expect the return at intervals of conditions similar to those of the last week.

The excitement in the last century, when cholera raged in Alexandria, could not have been more manifest than was noticeable among a certain class recently when it became known that cases of scarlet fever had appeared, although this disease has never been literally eliminated from a community.

Such classes, however, should not be made objects of pleasantry upon such occasions because they are anxious and others are not. During the prevalence of a thunder storm a large percentage of human beings become apprehensive, while others pay no attention to the elements. It is so when scourges visit us.

Generally these scares are caused by the appearance of smallpox, in our midst, and this repulsive ailment has been the source of anxiety at times for many years. There was one in the early fifties, but during the four years' war between the states, when cases existed in almost every other house in the city, when soldiers and refugee negroes were dying like sheep, the war cloud overshadowed everything and but little attention was paid to the smallpox. In 1872 some cases of the disease, caused brief spasms among a certain class, some of who were councilmen, and special meetings of the city fathers were held and divers measures suggested to safeguard the community. One member was anxious to place sufferers from the disease in a canal boat and anchor it off Jones's Point; others urged that a hospital be placed upon the city's ground at the alms house. The residents of the county protested and eventually a temporary structure was placed between St. Mary's Cemetery and Hunting Creek. Similar scenes followed in 1899 during one of the severest winters ever experienced in this section of the country.

The scare of the past week was one of the convulsions which occur on an average every decade.

KILKENNY CAT METHOD.

It is suggested that while the Germans and the British are making their claims and their counter-claims of victory in the great North Sea battle, the United States can view the outcome with equanimity and as a direct result the rise of our own Navy in the scale of relative strength. The United States Navy today is stronger by reason of the twenty or thirty ships that went down in the North Sea battle. If the foemen are determined to carry the issue of their respective claims to control of the seas to the ultimate, they will meet again in combat even more fierce than the Skagerak battle and with even greater numbers of ships engaged and severer losses.

The result will be the killing off of one or the other fleet and the crippling of the victor. By this Kilkenny-cat method of winning sea laurels the United States would find itself boosted perhaps even to the first rank as a sea power without being under the necessity of building a single additional ship. So that from a purely cold-blooded and selfish point of view the sooner the German and the British fleets get together again the more comfortable will the United States be after the war. For an arrogant sovereign of the sea would entail immense costs to this country in order to hold up its end and to insure its full rights of commerce. It may be that the preparedness program will not have to be so heroic through the reduction of the menace of foreign fleets by the process of sea battles and disputed victories.

END AS FAR OFF AS EVER.

The announcement is made that Vaux, the second of the forts making up the enormous defenses of Verdun has fallen into the hands of the Germans, which may be looked upon as marking a definite stage in the nibbling process by which the German "rats" are finding their way toward the heart of the citadeled situaton. The doorway of Verdun from the northeast has been taken to supplement the capture of Douaumont, which likewise is easterly from Verdun. Although the works were so battered by the vast artillery fire that scarcely anything resembling a fort, even of the type of this, the underground type, remains. Yet the Germans have the benefit of the moral victory, the strategic success and the military advance.

It goes without saying that the French endured almost insupportable hardships before they yielded the position and that the garrison was reduced to tatters before the capture was effected. It goes without the saying that the German's loss was disproportionate to the value of the success, unless they shall likewise carry all the strong points and win Verdun. Then they would hope to force terms of capitulation from the Allies and end the war—although this by no means follows as the probable result, especially as the Russians are making sweeping advances upon the east side. Certainly the Allies have little of consolation in the war news for the past two weeks. But France is still winning the reverence of its foes for its masterly fighting and holds the trenches about Vaux.

LATEST JOKE ON ARISTOCRACY

A cotemporary suggests that the irony of fate was never better illustrated than by the fact that the British monarchy and the British aristocracy are now apparently dependent for military success upon an ex-stable boy and ex-footman. Gen. Sir William Robertson, British Chief of Staff, who is expected to succeed Lord Kitchener as Secretary of State for War, has not a drop of blue blood in his plebeian veins nor the humblest heraldic device to his name. He came from nobody, except men and women, and from nowhere, except the broad stream of humanity. But England is looking to him for victory, and British royalty is to continue to maintain itself, it may owe its preservation to one who formerly curried the horses of country aristocracy or, as "Jeems" the footman, contributed to the benial pomp of a Wiltshire squire.

The joke is on aristocracy, and American democracy grins a broad grin across the sea at the embarrassment of belted earls. The inefficiency of democracy has been a favorite text of late. But here is nature meddling with profound political philosophies and calling on a common man to do the uncommon things which his social superiors have been unable to do.

HOCHS OF THE KAISER

(Baltimore American)

Kaiser Wilhelm called for hochs from the sailors of the fleet at Wilhelmshaven, in celebration of the victory of the German fleet over that of the British which victory is hailed as giving the Germans mastery of the sea. They may have it, but what are they going to do with it? Hochs will not lift the blockade nor promote the invasion of England. If the victory was, indeed, a decisive stroke and not such a deadly success as place the Germany Navy at added disadvantage in comparison with the British, there will be something more than hochs at Wilhelmshaven. Hurrah and hullabaloo are the claquers of pretentious persons and parties. They will not feed the German population.

The hochs of the Kaiser will be discounted by the neutral world unless Germany shall sharply and decisively follow up the advantage it claims. The fact that the German Emperor can gloss over facts as easily as he did in this speech and make it appear as though the war were going all one way tends to prevent confidence from being given his claims with respect to the Skagerack battle.

The Germans have much to be joyous about, but it yet remains to be demonstrated that they have anything like the asset in the North Sea light to which they lay claim, particularly with tardy concessions of two more big ships added to their lost list.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Rev. Father John P. Chidwick, who was chaplain of the battleship Maine, when that vessel was blown up in Havana harbor, has been elevated to the rank of monsignor, Monsignor Chidwick, was informed of his elevation by Cardinal Farley last Monday. He is head of St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie, Westchester county, N. Y. and saiss he will continue his work there.

The police of Wills Point, Texas, await the return to consciousness of Mrs. H. J. Morau, who was beaten senseless Wednesday at the same time her father and mother, Captain and Mrs. H. F. Goodnight, a wealthy couple, were murdered. The authorities hope she will clear the mystery surrounding the murder for which her husband is under arrest. Morau is being held in jail at Canton, Texas.

One person is dead, twelve persons are in a critical condition and a score more are suffering from minor injuries as a result of a collision between a crowded Third avenue New York elevated train and an empty train standing at the station at 3rd avenue and 149th street. The collision occurred at 2:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Frank Kerrigan motorman of the second train, died as a result of his injuries.

Gen. George Bell, jr., military commander at El Paso, was informed last night that a mob of citizens and Carranza soldiers attacked the consulate in Chihuahua. The report states the building was burned. Confirmation was obtained of the report that the town of Santa Barbara, in Chihuahua, was raided and looted by bandits on Monday. Santa Barbara is 25 miles south of Pasral. The largest properties of the Mines Company of America are located just 3 miles from this point.

An Amsterdam dispatch says that peace demonstrators, most of whom were women, marched from Vienna Monday evening to Schoenbrun Castle, the residence of the emperor, and demanded a separate peace with Russia. A number of the women managed to avoid the police and entered the castle grounds, where they shouted their demands beneath the windows of the emperor's private apartments. They were arrested and the castle guard was later equipped with machine guns.

A fist fight took place yesterday evening immediately after adjournment of the Republican convention in Chicago, between Gov. H. D. Hatfield and Isaac P. Mann, of the West Virginia delegation, when the latter objected to the governor making any announcement of the chairmanship until Monday or Tuesday. In the scuffle that ensued blood flowed freely from a puch in the face that the governor landed on Mr. Mann. They were old friends, but had recently become enemies over political differences.

QUERIES ON THE OUSTER LAW

Provisions, Mayor Ainslie Says Will Be Carried Out in Richmond

Since the announcement has been made that Mayor Ainslie of Richmond has instructed the Police Department on and after June 18, to enforce every State law, however obsolete, and however much it may interfere with the convenience of the public, the Mayor's office at the City Hall has been thronged with citizens anxious to find out whether their individual status is affected. To every question the Mayor has made the same answer, that the law would be carried out.

The "ouster law" provides for the removal from office of any official, not protected by the Constitution, neglecting to perform any duty enjoined by any law of the State.

Many questions have been brought to the Mayor for interpretation. Here is one that was asked yesterday: "Is a minister a necessity?" Mayor Ainslie said that, in his opinion, he was.

"Sunday is set aside for religious worship" he said, "and to have service a leader is needed. It makes no difference what his title is, according to creed. Such a leader must be supported. I do not think, however, that paid choir singers are a necessity."

"How about the police? Aren't they following their vocations on the Sabbath day, and should they arrest themselves if they see each other on duty on June 18?" he was asked.

"The police are a matter of necessity. So are the firemen," he replied.

"How about trains?"

"They are provided for under the law."

The law allows the delivery on Sunday of ice cream made on the previous day, but says nothing of deliveries of ice and milk.

"Some people claim that newspapers are a necessity on Sunday. Granting that the people of Richmond do consider the news on Sunday morning indispensable, there are two morning newspapers in the city and they should be sufficient. As early as 9 o'clock in the morning on Sundays newsboys cry all the Northern papers and in the afternoon they make nuisances of the Sunday afternoon editions of some of the out of town papers. These I do not consider necessities."

Rheumatism Disappears

"I Was All Down and Out and Had Given up Hope," says Benj. Warren. Gives Credit to Dreco.

"The fact that I can now work ten hours a day, and every day in the week, is due entirely to Dreco," said Benj. Warren, of 319 John Marshall Place, "For many years I have suffered with bad stomach trouble and rheumatism and no medicine seemed to do me much good, instead of improving I was getting worse. I ached all over from rheumatism. My stomach was weak and digestion poor and nothing I ate agreed with me. I had constipation and felt like I was target for all diseases. One day I heard of Dreco and bought a bottle and that was a lucky day for me for no medicine has ever done as much for me as Dreco has. Rheumatism has disappeared. I eat anything I want and digest it. Constipation all gone, and since taking four bottles, I have gained eight pounds. I give all credit to Dreco, it is great."

Dreco is sold in Alexandria by Allen's Drug Store.

Delegation Perfects Organization—L. S. Thomas Elected Chairman

Chicago, June 9—Virginia's delegation to the Progressive convention was organized as follows: Chairman of the delegation, L. S. Thomas, Martinsville; national committeeman, Percy S. Stephenson of Norfolk, re-elected.

Resolutions committeeman, S. D. Scott of Norfolk; credentials committeeman, J. H. Catron, Big Stone Gap organization committeeman, Jeff H. Powell, Richmond; rules committeeman, E. J. McCulloch, Buchanan; notify presidential nominee committeeman, George N. Walker, Fredericksburg.

Secretary of the delegation, Jackson E. Moore, Roanoke.

John R. Doles of Norfolk, and R. R. Fairfax of Roanoke, are assistant sergeants-at-arms in the Progressive convention.

When asked for an expression of opinion as to the situation at the opening of the two conventions, National Commiteeman Stephenson, who is also State chairman of the Progressive party for Virginia, made this statement:

"The Progressive and the Republicans have criticized President Wilson's administration, and if we fail to use a sufficient amount of self-control and conciliation to unite in naming a candidate to oppose him, we will have great difficulty in persuading the people of our sincerity; certainly, if we are unwilling to do our utmost to rescue the country from the conditions of which we complain.

"We think that present events demand Colonel Roosevelt in a commanding way, but if the Republicans can, with any degree of unanimity, name a man who can be more successful before the people—success with principle—we will gladly support him.

"Justice Hughes has been so long removed from the public eye that it is difficult to tell what place he holds in the hearts of the people. He at least appeals to their heads, and there is nothing in his record as governor of New York that does not inspire the utmost confidence and success."

VIRGINIA NEWS

John G. Landis, 60 years old, died yesterday morning at Bridgewater, Rockingham county, from lockjaw. Last Thursday he stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated his foot to the bone. On Monday lockjaw developed. Wednesday his jaws locked and his last hours were spent in great agony.

John P. Pettyjohn and Co., of Lynchburg, have received the contract to erect the main dormitory of a new plant for Stonewall Jackson Institute, at Abingdon, it having been decided to rebuild the burned institution. This contract amounts to $35,000. The board has raised $75,000 thus far. The institution will continue as a Presbyterian school for girls.

The largest reduction that has been made in the operating force of the Du Pont Co., at Hopewell, since the plant was put into active operation nearly eighteen months ago, was made Wednesday and yesterday, when the operatives of three units, numbering about 2,700 men, were laid off. The reduction in the force means a reduction in the pay roll at the Hopewell plant of approximately $10,000 daily, the average wage being about $3.50 per man.

B. Graves Kerr, 35 years old, recently employed as a tobacco salesman, who was reported to have committed suicide, on Wednesday afternoon by leaping from Mayo Bridge, into the James River, at Richmond, is alive and last night was sleeping soundly at the Young Men's Christian Association Building in Hopewell. This discovery was made following an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the alleged suicide.

As a result of being gored by a vicious bull at the Methodist Orphanage, Norfolk, George D. Powell, fifty-five years old, is a patient at Memorial Hospital. Mr. Powell was gored in the left shoulder and thigh, and it is feared that one of his lungs was pierced. He was attacked by the bull while helping two men who bought the animal to get it off the premises. After knocking him down the animal is said to have stood over him, pawing the ground and bellowing loudly. So ferocious did the bull become that his purchasers decided to leave it on the orphanage grounds temporarily.

While being taken to Marion on a train yesterday afternoon, Walter Stanley jumped through a window, receiving severe cuts about the head and body and a broken leg. The guard had four insane patients under his care, and Stanley, who had been quiet and rational, was given a seat ahead of the guard, who had more difficult patients to look after. When the train neared Singer and was moving about thirty miles an hour, Stanley leaped through the window. The train was not brought to a stop for more than a mile and then was moved back and the injured man picked up.

Despite the fact that her hull is 100 years old, the historic frigate Franklin, used for more than a quarter of a century as a receiving ship at Norfolk, may again sail the seas. The historic old ship was sold at auction at the Norfolk navy yard several months ago to Henry Hitner Sons of Philadelphia. The price was less than $4,000. Her bottom, is said to be covered with valuable copper, and her owners are said to have secured a bargain when they bought her for less than $4,000. Her owners are contemplating fitting the old ship up and sending her to sea as a freight carrier. The Franklin now lies partly submerged at the Norfolk navy yard. She will be pumped out and towed to Philadelphia, where she will be made ready to go to sea again as a sailing vessel.

The imperial appeal court at Leipzig has rendered a verdict in which it is stated that Germany is actually, though not formally, at war with Italy. The case in which the verdict was rendered arose over a dispute about a war clause in a contract for a supply of Italian produce. The court decided that "formally" a condition of war does not exist between Germany and Italy, but nevertheless, in view of the Austro-German alliance it must be considered that Germany shares in the Austro-Italian war because she is bound to send troops to replace on other sectors the Austrian troops sent against Italy.

AUSTRIA'S RULE IN SERBIA

Sixteen Men Including Four Priests, Shot for "Conspiracy"

Another lifting of the veil, and a significant one, is found in the result of the trial of about 200 Serbians, Bosian-Herzegovinians, by the Austrian military authorities for complicity in the Servian 'conspiracy' against Austria.

The accused, who included seven members of the Bosnian Diet, 24 priests, seven professors at the universities, and many professional men and merchants, as well as artisans and peasants, were guilty of belonging to educational and gymnastic clubs, a temperance society and other organizations which were affiliated in one way or another with the Serbian National Defense Society. That connection was enough to condemn them.

The Austrian Court sentenced 16 of the accused of whom four were priests to death, and 88 to long terms of imprisonment.

A SYMBOL OF HEALTH

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfils its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. Obtainable everywhere.
